

In celebration of Women's Month, The Women's and Gender Studies Program

presents

Mona Eltahawy

award-winning Egyptian columnist and international speaker on Arab and Muslim Issues

Speaking on

“Gender, Social Media, and Recent Revolutions in the Middle East”

Thursday, April 14, 2011

7:00 p.m.

Multi-purpose Room, Sakowich Campus Center

Free Admission

Reception with light refreshments to follow.

Wheelchair accessible

2:30-3:30 p.m. – Cascia Hall

Informal meeting with Mona Eltahawy for members of the Merrimack community interested in writing, blogging, and journalism

Ongoing exhibit in McQuade Library:

Eltahawy's writings and resources on Muslim women

For more information

Email: gordene.mackenzie@merrimack.edu or nancy.coella@merrimack.edu

Call: 978-837-3530 or 978-837-5478

Mona Eltahawy is a columnist for the Toronto Star (Canada), the Jerusalem Report (Israel), and Politiken (Denmark) and has won numerous journalism awards from organizations around the world. She has worked as a correspondent for Reuters in Cairo and Jerusalem and has reported from Egypt, Israel, Palestine, Libya, Syria, Saudi Arabia, and China for various media outlets. Her opinion pieces have been published in The Washington Post and the International Herald Tribune and she has been a guest analyst on numerous network news programs, including CNN, ABC, CBS, PBS, and NPR.

www.monaeltahawy.com

Events with Mona Eltahawy are sponsored by the Women's and Gender Studies Program and the following generous co-sponsors:

Center for the Study of Jewish-Christian-Muslim Relations; Office of the President; School of Liberal Arts; School of Science and Engineering; Francis E. Girard School of Business and International Commerce; Office for Mission and Ministry; McQuade Library; The Honors Center; The Writing Center; Campus Life; Diversity Education Center; Departments of Religious and Theological Studies; Philosophy; Education; Sociology and Criminology; Communication Arts and Sciences; Visual and Performing Arts; Psychology; Political Science; English; World Languages and Cultures; International Business; Environmental Studies and Sustainability; Islamic and Middle Eastern Studies Program; Massachusetts National Organization of Women.

Merrimack
COLLEGE
www.merrimack.edu